You are more than a customer.
You are a Member.

When you have Gervais Telephone's services, you are a member of our telecommunications cooperative and enjoy some unique, significant benefits.

What is a cooperative? It is a collectively owned enterprise managed for joint economic and/or services benefit. The members own the company together, where policies and decisions are made through a democratically elected Board of Directors composed of members of the cooperative.

One of the most tangible benefits many members of the cooperative feel directly is their capital credit. Members accumulate capital credit proportionately to what they spend on the services Gervais Telephone offers. The more members who use telephone and Internet services, the more money the company has to reinvest in useful, updated technology to keep prices affordable, and to share a portion of its net margin, thereafter, with members.

Your Gervais Telephone office is located right in town and member/customer services are as easy as a phone call, or just come in.

Powerful. Affordable. Local.
